Illinois Report Gives Production of Coal, Oil in County

REPORT: This department received this week the Illinois Coal Report for 1953 which includes oil as well as coal and for the benefit of you who appreciate figures I will go into the parts of it which relate to Saline county.

Coal was here first; so first we shall deal with the statistics on coal. Remember this report was for the year 1953 and none of the 1954 coal-oil production figures are included.

Listed in the 1953 report are Sahara 5, 6, 7 and 16, Peabody 40 and 43, the Eldorado Coal Corp. (Derby) which was abandoned during that year and the Saxton Coal Corp. which has the strip mine just off Route 45 between Carrier Mills and Stonewall.

The figures show that the top producer in the county was Peabody 43, with 397,771 tons of coal produced during 1953. And Peabody 40 was second with 619,491. Both are slopes.

Sahara's No. 16, a slope, was tops for that company with 475,782 tons. No. 6, the strip operation, was next with 392,169. Then came No. 7 slope with 299,992, which is getting about as close to 300 as it is possible to get without being there, and No. 5 slope with 100,379.

Saxton, a stripping operation which got into production during the last half of 1953, mined 54,232 tons and the Eldorado Coal Corp. ceased during the year after mining 17,622 tons.

On the Williamson county list were Blue Bird 7 and 8, Carmac, Delta, Stonewall Corp., Strobel and Harrisburg Coal Co. mines.

Blue Bird 7 mined 372,933 tons. No. 8 57,395. Carmac's production was 342,738. Stonewall's 71,900 in the less than a half year the new mine was in operation. Strobel's was 4,314. Harrisburg Coal's was 23,572 and Delta's was 641,745.

All the Saline county collieries listed mined from the No. 5 seam except Sahara No. 6, which mined from the No. 6 and Saxton, mining the No. 2 and 3 seams. Ditto for the Williamson county mines mentioned with the exception of Stonewall Corp., in the No. 2.

Now we make that transition from solid to liquid (there's always gas in this dissertation) and come to oil in Saline county.

In 1953 there were 34 producers in Saline county, 24 of them in Eldorado township. There were seven in Raleigh township, two in Long Branch and one in Hector.

Getting down to the formations in which the oil was discovered, we find 16 in the Aux Vases, all in Eldorado township; eight in the Hardinsburg, also all in Eldorado township; eight in the Cypress, the two in Long Branch and six of the seven in Raleigh; and two in the McClosky, the one in Hector and one of the seven in Raleigh.

In Eldorado township, 16 of the producers were in Section 8, four in Section 23, three in Section 7 and one in Section 24.

Deepest producer is the Carter Oil Company's Paul Turner (no relation) No. 1, drilled 3,151 to the Hardinsburg in Section 8 of Eldorado township. Shallowest is the Superior Oil Co.'s R. Glen Thomas No. 1, to the McClosky at 2,010 in Raleigh township.

Four Youths Admit Crimes Including Two Murders, Beatings

NEW YORK (AP)—Four burly teenagers, with no outward show of emotion, confessed to police Tuesday night an orgy of crime that included the murder of two men, the horse-whipping of two girls and the savage beating of two homeless tramps.

They said they did it just for the "kick" they got out of it. Police identified the four as Melvin Mittman, 17, Jerome Lieberman, 17, Robert Trachtenberg, 15, and Jack Koslow, 18, all of Brooklyn. All were said to come from respectable families. Koslow, a former bank clerk, was described as highly intelligent.

Their series of wanton crimes began July 29, they said, and was directed mostly at homeless men who had sought refuge in Brooklyn parks.

Farm Measure Is Passed by Senate, 44-28

Legislative Triumph For Eisenhower; Bill Goes to White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate early today passed and sent to the White House the administration's compromise farm bill, handing President Eisenhower a smashing legislative triumph.

The controversial bill was passed by the Senate shortly after midnight following a last-ditch fight by farm state senators which threatened temporarily to defeat the measure.

Earlier the House approved the bill 208 to 47 after beating down a farm bloc move to kill it.

The surprise Senate attack on the bill was so determined that Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) sought a recess to regroup his forces in a new session later today.

But Democrats demanded a roll call vote on Knowland's move. The Californian finally withdrew his recess motion after enough supporters of the bill reported on the floor.

Thirty-one Republicans and 13 Democrats voted for the bill; 22 Democrats, five Republicans and Independent Sen. Wayne Morse (Ore.) were opposed.

Farmers Favor Bill, President Says
Senate Democrats were joined by some farm state Republicans in the last minute attack on the compromise, which puts reduced flexible price supports on five basic crops for the first time since World War II.

The bill gives the President most of his farm goals. It also gives Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson a chance to prove that lower supports will reduce huge and costly farm surpluses and give farmers a better break in the long run.

Before the House and Senate action, Mr. Eisenhower told his weekly press conference he believes a majority of the farmers support the overall goals of the administration.

As for possible political repercussions, the President noted that the administration's farm proposals were developed after consultation with every farm group in the nation. He said only one small agricultural organization objected.

Seventh Fleet to Resist Any Drive To Seize Formosa

WASHINGTON (AP)—American military authorities said today there is no fresh evidence that the Chinese Communists are getting set to carry out their belligerent threats to invade Nationalist-held Formosa.

But the Communists have been put on renewed notice by President Eisenhower that they will have to run over the powerful U. S. 7th Fleet if they do try to seize Chiang Kai-Shek's island stronghold.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the chiefs of the U. S. 1st and 7th fleets will arrive in Formosa this week to map plans for the defense of the island with Nationalist Chinese leaders.

Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference in unequivocal terms late Tuesday that the 7th Fleet, following orders first laid down in 1950 by President Truman at the outbreak of the Korean war, would resist any attempt by the Chinese Communists to take Formosa.

The President made his statement in the face of Red Premier Chou En Lai's pledge last week that Formosa would be seized. There have also been recent reports—many springing from Nationalist Chinese sources—that Red Chinese armies are massing on the mainland of Formosa.

But military officials here tend to view Chou's threat and the accompanying warnings of a Red buildup as part of the war of nerves in the Far East, now reaching a new intensity with the end of the Korean and Indochina wars.

Heart Attack is Fatal to Tom Reed

Tom Reed, 72, died suddenly at 11 a. m. today of a heart attack at his residence in the Pickford apartments above the Chicago Market.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marian Reed, and two children, Don Reed of Fort Pierce, Fla., and a daughter, Mrs. Matt Lippiatt, Miami, Fla.

The body is now at the Gaskins funeral home and no funeral plans have been made.

Term to Begin Sept. 1 at HTHS, Following Faculty Meeting Aug. 31

The Harrisburg Township high school 1954-55 school term will begin on Wednesday, Sept. 1, following a general faculty meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 31, it was announced today by Raymond C. Foster, principal.

The entire student body will meet in Bonnell gymnasium at 8:30 a. m. for preliminary announcements and instructions, following which students will go to home rooms where locker assignments and class assignment sheets will be issued and where student fees will be collected and receipts issued. Fees to be collected by the home room teachers include 30 cents for library programs, 45 cents for student accident insurance, 20 cents for dictionary rental, and a 25 cent locker fee, making a total of $1.20. Practically all freshman and sophomore lockers have removable locks. For this reason a $1 deposit is required on these when they are issued. This deposit will be refunded when locks are returned at the close of the year.

The lyceum fee provides for several professional programs of an educational, inspirational or entertainment nature. These are selected by the Student Council and most of the dates for their presentation have already been established. The insurance fee provides for payments, to the extent indicated by the schedule printed on the policy, for injuries resulting from accidents occurring while the insured is participating in any school sponsored activities except interscholastic athletics. This insurance is provided by the athletic department.

Medical, Dental Exams

As a safeguard to the health of the individual as well as that of his associates a public health law requires that all students, with a few specified exceptions, have a physical and dental examination made by a licensed physician and dentist upon entering the first grade and at least every four years thereafter while attending school. The usual practice is, therefore, to require these examinations upon entrance to the first, fifth and ninth grades. Thus all freshmen are required by law to have a physical examination made before or after the beginning of the school year. Report forms have been distributed to local doctors with the request that they be filled out and given to the student to take home for examination by the parents before being brought to the school. All freshmen should arrange to have these examinations made by the doctors of their choice and, after the reports have been checked by their parents, turn them in to the physical education instructor when they are called for. Students who have had an examination within a year or whose parents object to the examination being given should bring a written statement to that effect.

Joint Installation Monday of Legion, Auxiliary Officers

The American Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary will hold a joint installation of officers Monday, Aug. 23, at 7:30 p. m. in the Legion home.

The meeting will begin, however, at 6 p. m. with a potluck dinner to which all Legion and Auxiliary members and their families are invited.

Auxiliary officers to be installed are Hazel Golish, president; Marian Humm, first vice; Dolly Johnson, second vice; Nell Wheatley, secretary; Susan Jones, treasurer; Mozelle Spencer, historian; and Vida Dwyer, sergeant at arms.

The installing Auxiliary officer will be Mrs. Ona Brown, district director from Carmi.

Eddie Driemeyer of Herrin, past state commander of American Legion, will install the Legion officers who were elected two months ago.

Elected officers are Bob Hull, commander; Paul Golish, senior vice commander; Jim Hearn, junior vice commander; Norman S. H. W. a. k. a. e, adjutant; Kendall Webb, finance officer; Ulysses Morris, chaplain; William Hull, sergeant at arms; Amos Doon, historian and Bob Barber, service officer.

39 Killed as Typhoon Hits Kyushu, Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A 115-mile-an-hour typhoon ripped across the south Japanese island of Kyushu today, killing an estimated 39 persons, and howled on with slightly diminished fury toward the "main island" of Honshu.

Up to 20 inches of rain accompanied the raging tropical windstorm, undermining roads, flooding rivers and sweeping away an undetermined number of Japanese houses.

The U. S. Army said the typhoon had caused at least $1,200,000 worth of damage since it struck the Amami Oshima islands over the week end, and the final storm bill was expected to total millions more.

City Receives State Approval Of Lake Plans

'B' Proposal for Construction To Cost $92,574

The city yesterday received a go-ahead on its lake plans from the Division of Waterways at Springfield.

The division gave verbal approval to the B plan of construction for the lake to R. D. Brown and R. R. Brown, lake engineers who made the trip yesterday to the state capital.

The engineers were told to make a formal written request for the switch from the A plan to the B plan and assured them that formal approval would be given this request, to go ahead with the project.

The engineers explained that the city already has its permit for construction of the lake and that upon receiving the written request, the Division of Waterways will give its approval of a revised permit. The written request was being made today.

Council to Meet Thursday
The city council yesterday morning adjourned its regular meeting until 1 p. m. Thursday to act upon the bids, anticipating that the city would get the B plan approved.

The Barter Construction Co. of Harrisburg was low bidder for this plan of construction, with a figure of $92,574.90 and this bid is expected to be accepted by the council tomorrow.

The city first received authority from Springfield for its A plan, but when invitations for bids were sent out, two plans of construction were included—both the A and B. Channess and Harris, Marion construction firm, was low on the A plan with a bid of $103,643.

R. D. Brown said that officials of the Division of Waterways, when they saw the B plans yesterday, said they liked them better than the A plan because the water in the lake will have less of a turn to make as it goes through the spillway.

Ready to Start Work

The B plan will cost less because 200 yards less concrete will be used in construction. In the A plan the levee would have run in an east-to-west direction between the hills. In the B plan it will angle northward after crossing the creek.

Thus the city stands to save more than $10,000 in revising its plan from A to B.

Sam Barter of the Barter Construction Co. said today that the firm is ready to start immediately on the big project, once the bid is accepted and the contract signed.

The city approved $200,000 bonds to buy the land, construct a lake and make some improvements to the water system. Up to now all the land required has been secured except the Chamberlain and Davis parcels, for which the city holds options. So far the deeds for this land cannot be secured.

Davenport Outlines Jaycee Drive for Industry in Address to Kiwanis Club

Bob Davenport, chairman of the Industrial committee of the Harrisburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, outlined efforts of the organization to secure industry to Harrisburg in an address to members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple.

The Jaycees have recently received some encouragement, Davenport stated, and he praised the help and cooperation the Jaycees have received from other civic groups and from local businesses.

The first enterprise to come to the city was the hat factory in the Cummins building which has been working steadily with a $5,000 weekly payroll. One hundred and nine women are presently employed and the owner is seeking to expand his operations. The factory came here with very little cost to the Jaycees, Davenport said.

More recently was the decision of the Ellis Truck Line to locate here. It has been having trouble placing its families in Harrisburg because of the shortage of modern homes for rent. There are a few semi-modern homes available. Several of the families have already made locations here and others are expected to as soon as they can find homes.

The truck line will be in operation here about Sept. 1 and will be a mid-terminal between Indianapolis and Memphis. It may also expand in the future and other businesses may follow its lead and locate here, Davenport stated.

The Ellis action cost the Jaycees $5,000 which was mostly raised by voluntary contributions and was oversubscribed by $3,000. If the firm purchases the property within three years the $5,000 will go to the firm. If the firm does not re-lease or buy within three years the Jaycees can purchase the building.

Sen. Langer Charges GOP Leaders Block Funds to Probe Power Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman William Langer of the Senate Monopoly subcommittee today accused GOP leaders of blocking funds for his investigation of an administration - proposed power contract which Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell called a "scandal."

But the North Dakota Republican said he would continue to push for the "fullest, most detailed, most thorough" inquiry into the so-called Dixon-Yates contract. The proposal involves the Atomic Energy Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Mitchell's charge touched off a political storm that reached all the way to the White House. He said President Eisenhower personally ordered the contract awarded to a private power "syndicate" and noted that one of the President's close friends, identified as golfer Bobby Jones, is a director of one of the firms involved.

Mr. Eisenhower expressed astonishment at his news conference Tuesday that Mitchell had brought the character and integrity of Jones into his charges. He strongly defended Jones as a man of unexcelled character.

Mr. Eisenhower said he knew that once he went into political life he would be subjected to many kinds of innuendo and allegation. He said he had approved recommendations for awarding the contract to Dixon-Yates and added that, except in national security cases, all such matters should be open to the public.

The President then invited reporters to see the entire Budget Bureau and AEC records on the controversial contract. But the two agencies said they could not assemble the material before the end of the week.

Mitchell replied from Chicago that he was glad Mr. Eisenhower "is now ready to make public the whole story behind the Dixon-Yates deal." He said "There are bound to be suspicions about this multi-million dollar give-away as long as the administration failed to disclose how it originated and developed."

The national Democratic chairman Tuesday night fired questions about the contract that he said should be answered. Mitchell wanted to know, among other things, who originated the proposal, if any undisclosed power companies were involved, whether the government solicited competing bids, whether any government agencies have reservations about the proposal, and why records of the contract are to be "kept under lock and key for four days and four nights."

Name Committee Counsel
Williams has represented McCarthy in other litigation.

Meanwhile, E. Wallace Chadwick, a 70-year-old Chester, Pa., attorney, began his duties as counsel for the committee, which begins hearings Aug. 30. He was selected by the six-man special committee late Tuesday.

Chadwick, who served one term as a Republican representative in the GOP-stered 80th Congress, praised Gen. George C. Marshall in a House speech May 7, 1947, as "the one man in America in whose wisdom, courage and proven confidence we all place the highest trust."

One of the 46 charges against McCarthy is that he made an "unwarranted attack" on Marshall in a 60,000-word Senate speech on June 14, 1951, "without proof or other justification."

Chairman Arthur W. Watkins (R-Utah) of the committee said the group was satisfied Chadwick had taken no stand on McCarthy which would disqualify him. Chadwick told reporters before leaving his home that he had "never taken a stand on issues" surrounding the McCarthy case.

More recently the Jaycees have been successful in getting a plastics plant to locate here and have purchased 2.36 acres from the county on which to build the building. It is hoped to have 250 to 300 employed there within a year and a half or two years. The cost to the Jaycees will be about $10,000. The land cost $500 and the Jaycees have agreed to pay $750 more to the county if the contract is not fulfilled.

The firm has agreed to build three buildings, each about 30 x 120 feet. When the first building is completed it will receive $4,000 from the Jaycees, and within 120 days it is to build a second building at which time $5,000 will be paid by the Jaycees. If the third building is not built $5,000 will be returned to the Jaycees. If the firm sells out within three years it must pay back $10,000 and after that $5,000.

There is a sliding scale agreement on the number of employees. By 15 months 120 workers are to be employed. The contract will be considered fulfilled when 120 employees have been working steady for three years.

The new plant, which will make plastic cigarette lighters, will mean a million dollars payroll and as many men will be employed as possible. The firm also is interested in getting other plants to locate here.

The Jaycees, Davenport stated, seek to bring stable enterprises to the city without too much gamble on large investments from the businesses.

A financial drive will be needed to complete the plastics deal, and the organization is considering a payment plan for contributions to attract as many as possible to the drive.

Share Speakers' Platform at Illinois Fair

Eisenhower Will Headline GOP Program Tomorrow

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson and Democratic National chairman Stephen A. Mitchell launched a double-barreled attack against President Eisenhower today, with Mitchell demanding "the facts" about the administration's Dixon-Yates power case.

Mitchell and Stevenson, who was defeated for the presidency by Mr. Eisenhower in 1952, addressed a crowd of about 7,000 at the Illinois State Fair, just a day ahead of Mr. Eisenhower who will speak here Thursday.

Stevenson accused the President of putting "party expediency" above national interest and criticized him for offering his "good wishes" to Joseph T. Meek, the Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate from Illinois. He did not mention the Dixon-Yates case.

"Multi-Million Dollar Giveaway"
Mitchell, however, said the Dixon-Yates proposal was a "multi-million dollar giveaway to big business."

He repeated his charge that President Eisenhower personally gave the Atomic Energy Commission permission to sign a contract with a "private syndicate known as Dixon-Yates."

He said the cost to the taxpayers was about 140 million dollars more than if the power came from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

"Some people seem to think that because the President did this one himself, it shouldn't be questioned by anyone," Mitchell said.

"I don't remember anyone giving that kind of consideration to Harry Truman when he was in the White House."

"Maybe that's why they had the President do this one personally—figuring he is so popular the press and the people wouldn't dare inquire into his own view of the national interest to party expediency," Stevenson said.

"Mighty Strange Facts"
"But if I'm a strange character, this is a strange case, with some mighty strange facts that need explaining. All we want are the facts."

Mitchell said he was "grateful" the President moved to open up "some files" on the contract and hoped for "cooperation" from the Republican Senate.

Stevenson said Meek "has indicated much of what the President has said is good for America" in Meek's campaign against Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas, a candidate for re-election.

"It is with all respect that we remind the President that he leads not only his political party but our country, and that we view with misgiving such obvious subordination of his own view of the national interest to party expediency," Stevenson said.

Opposes Forward Steps
Stevenson said in his prepared text that Meek seems to favor "peace, private enterprise and chicken for Sunday dinner," but is "irritably opposed to virtually every forward step toward those objectives."

These steps include social security, slum clearance, farm price supports, collective bargaining and foreign aid, Stevenson said.

The former Illinois governor said the November election in Illinois will determine "whether democracy will hang on to yesterday or meet tomorrow... whether democracy is to stand still, or to go forward."

Earlier, Douglas charged the Republicans have "scuttled" President Eisenhower's "great crusade" and said Democrats are his "real friends."

The Illinois Democrat termed the GOP a "party of irresponsibility and incapacity" that returned to power in 1952, while the Democrats are "the party of public responsibility."

Other Candidates Present
"The great crusade has broken down," Douglas said. "It has broken down because the Republican pastime has been throwing monkey wrenches into the machinery."

Douglas' speech set the theme

Private vs. Public Power

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Basically, the longest filibuster
in Senate history revolved about the issue of private vs. public power. In this case, the issue related directly to the future of atomic energy development in this country.

President Eisenhower's controversial bill on the subject provided that private organizations should own and operate atom plants. He has also directed that the Atomic Energy Commission, in operating certain of its present establishments, should buy electric power
from a private utility group.

The President's version of the measure proposed that any improvements or inventions developed by private industry in the atomic field should be shared on a royalty basis with other companies
for five years.

The goal of this provision was
to prevent growth of a power monopoly. It contrasted sharply with that contained in the approved House bill, which followed the customary patent procedure of allowing exclusive rights for 17 years.

These features were the heart of the dispute which brought on the filibuster by liberal Democrats who shouted "give away"
and "monopoly" for several days.

In the end, they won part of their point. They had argued that five years was not a long enough sharing period, since it might be 10 years before atom
power is cheaper than standard power. By amendment, the Senate increased the sharing time to 10 years.

They also put over an amendment that would allow the AEC as well as private industry to operate power plants. To build such plants, however, the AEC will have to seek money from Congress, and that will mean making out a case that private industry cannot yet do the job, or at least not all of it.

The Democrats lost in their effort to unsettle the President's order to the AEC to buy power from private firms. Most senators seemed convinced it was right to favor
private enterprise if it could do the job at fair cost.

Nearly lost sight of in the protracted debate is the fact that the approved bill further stipulates a greater sharing of atomic information with our allies. Inasmuch as it is plain any new war would mean instantaneous use of atomic weapons, we cannot sensibly withhold from our friends the knowledge of how to use those weapons.

Essentially, the President's atom
proposals came through the long Senate ordeal. Where the Democrats succeeded in modifying them, the results appear to represent a desirable caution.

The objectors did not imagine
they could bar private industry forever from the atom field. They simply wished to erect safeguards against monopoly and other abuses. The changes they wrought may well prove beneficial.

There had been no major atomic energy legislation since 1946. The need for modernizing the law was great, and it seems now to be well
on the way toward being fulfilled
sanely and moderately.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Republican Governors Say the Makes Them "New Dealish";
Congressmen Long Overdue
On Needed Reforms; Sen. Humphrey Forces Appointment of Full Federal Reserve Board.

WASHINGTON. — The five governors who discussed the fifty-billion-dollar highway program
with Eisenhower at a White House
luncheon the other day found themselves veering somewhat over toward Ike's ideas despite previous opposition.

Remarkable one Republican governor afterward. "You know, I'm beginning to feel almost New Dealish."

Not all the conversation had to do with highways, however. For the benefit of the southern governors present—Kennon of Louisiana and Wetherby of Kentucky—the President told this story about his election campaign.

"My advisers told me," he said,
"that if I went down south on a tour I would be a corporal's guard out to hear me talk. Well,
I decided to go anyway, and as I gathered momentum, I began to tour I would get a corporal's guard really is. I never knew before it could be so large."

Note — While Eisenhower and the governors were discussing $50-000,000,000 for highways, Senate Committee on Public Works, Sen.
Cowan's bill for only half-a-billion dollars for school construction
fared rough sledding in Congress,
largely because the Eisenhower administration refused to back it.

It may sound strange coming from one who has done his share of criticizing Congress, but in my opinion it would be a tragedy if Congress did not come back this fall to vote a pay raise both for judges and congressmen themselves.

President Eisenhower urged such a pay boost last year. A commission was appointed, a recommendation made, but now all has been forgotten.

Congressmen and federal judges
are still struggling along on salaries that few similarly qualified professional men would work for,
though some are getting tired and resigning.

In the old days, the Senate was a rich man's corporation, where a member could afford to work for nothing. And the resultant legislation, as could be expected, benefited the rich. The House of Representatives has featured those who got kickbacks from their clients, private expense accounts, or skipped their families.

Few men in any job these days
have to maintain two houses, unless they are corporation executives and get paid for it. But a congressman must keep a home in his district and a home in Washington, especially if he has children. The expense is terrific.

On top of this, few people are called upon to work longer hours
than a United States senator.
While the rest of the U. S. was pleasantly week-ending, the Senate adjourned at 8:07 p. m. last Saturday night. Long hours have been the rule rather than the exception. Seldom has the Senate adjourned this summer before 8
p. m., and this does not include
filibusters when debate continued
all night.

The ordinary citizen working such hours would have gone on strike long ago.

Yet most members of Congress
are conscientious, honest men.
This writer happens to have exposed irregularities, helped send four congressmen to jail in recent years. However, I am certain these do not represent the congressional average.

What's bound to happen is that if congressional salaries are not increased, the caliber of our legislators will go down and down.

Since congressmen hesitate to vote themselves an increase before elections, I suggest that the House return after November, when the Senate will have to return to vote
on McCarthy anyway, and then both take up the long overdue
question of congressional and judicial salaries.

FISCAL POLITICS
President Eisenhower got a friendly tip over the week end that he had better appoint a vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board or face some hot speeches
in Congress.

Under the law, the President is required to appoint not only a chairman but a vice-chairman of the Federal Reserve. Furthermore, he is required to appoint seven members of the board, and for months he failed to do the latter. It was not until Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota made a speech accusing the President of deliberately violating the law
that two additional board members were appointed — Canby Balderson of Philadelphia and Paul Miller of St. Paul. Both are good men.

So over the week end, the White House was told that Senator Humphrey was ready to deliver another speech if Ike did not designate a vice-chairman also necessary under the law.

All this may seem like unimportant financial politics to the average taxpayer; but it isn't. It affects the credit structure of the nation and the amount of interest
you pay when you go to the bank for a loan. For it goes back to the traditional battle between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve
as to whether interest rates will be high or low, inflation up or down.

During the Truman administration this battle between Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Federal Reserve Chairman Marriner Eccles made headlines. In the end, Truman denoted Eccles,
which let the Treasury dominate
the Federal Reserve Board.

Today the Treasury still dominates the Federal Reserve Board, though without headlines. The domination has been entirely

friendly, through the fact that William McChesney Martin, new board chairman, was once undersecretary of the Treasury and is a great friend of Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. Their cooperation is perfect.

However, many bankers point out that is not the function of the Federal Reserve. Its function is to remain independent of the Treasury, of keeping the nation's credit
aloof from the political dictates of the Treasury.

So when the Federal Reserve
Board has five members instead of seven; and when it has no vice chairman, it's a little less independent, a little easier to dominate. That's why the board got along for months minus two members. Ike's financial advisers in the Treasury just didn't want them appointed.

Paducah, Oak Ridge A-Workers Vote On Wage Offer

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — Some 4,500 APL workers at two atomic research plants vote today on whether to accept a previously rejected six-cent an hour wage increase.

The workers, members of the Atomic Trades and Labor Council,
are employed by Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corp. at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory and the Y12 plant.

Their decision is expected to have a strong influence on 4,500
CIO workers who man plants here
and at Paducah, Ky., producing the nation's entire supply of uranium 235 for atomic bombs.

The CIO workers threatened to strike when Carbide and Carbon refused to offer more than the six-cent figure.

The Justice Department, on orders of President Eisenhower, obtained a federal injunction to prevent the walkout. The President said a strike by the CIO employees
would imperil the national safety.

The company, which operates all four plants for the Atomic Energy Commission, has paid generally the same wages to both unions in the past. Both now have a pay scale ranging from $1.38 to $2.40
an hour.

Osteopath is Indicted in Murder of Wife

CLEVELAND, Ohio. — Authorities planned today to bring
Dr. Samuel Sheppard into Common Pleas Court Friday for arraignment on first degree murder
charges in the Independence Day slaying of his pregnant 31-year-old wife, Marilyn.

A grand jury of five men and nine women returned the murder indictment against the young osteopath late Tuesday after hearing a dozen witnesses, during a two-day session. Sheppard, who had been released on $50,000 bond
only 30 hours earlier, immediately
was taken into custody and returned to jail.

Authorities said he would be arraigned Friday before Common Pleas Judge Arthur H. Day, unless his attorneys seek a postponement.

Attention during the grand jury
session centered on the testimony of slender, attractive Susan Hayes, 24-year-old former laboratory technician here who told of intimacies with Sheppard.

In a 30-minute appearance, the auburn-haired girl described a weeklong "man and wife" relationship with Sheppard in Los Angeles earlier this year. He had gone there to take postgraduate work while his wife visited friends
in Monterey, Calif.

Miss Hayes' testimony was called
"an important part of the background of and the motive for the killing of Marilyn Sheppard" by Assistant County Prosecutor John J. Mahon.

French Premier Leaves for Brussels with Proposals To Make or Break EDC Plan

PARIS. — Premier Pierre Men-
des-France left by train for Brussels today with compromise proposals that could make or break
the long-stalled European army
project.

Before Mendes-France left for the conference of European Defense Community foreign ministers beginning Thursday in the Belgian capital, British Ambassador Sir Gladwyn Jebb rushed to the station to see him off.

Sir Gladwyn delivered Britain's urgent plea that France give in a little on the proposals if it is necessary to save the EDC.

It was not revealed what was in Sir Gladwyn's message, but both Washington and London were opposed to many features of Mendes-France's plan which he will present to would-be partner nations
Thursday.

U. S. Officials Hopeful
In Washington, U. S. officials said frankly that acceptance by the EDC nations of the French modifications could force the United States to make the "agonizing reappraisal" of U. S. policy in Europe of which Secretary of State
John Foster Dulles warned France
earlier.

Washington authorities remained hopeful, however, that something could be worked out to avoid such a move by the United States. Most Washington sources expected the Brussels conference to result in a revision of Mendes-France's compromise European army plan.

Mendes-France was reported convinced the European army plan will be buried completely unless his revisions are accepted.

Mendes-France's main argument
in defending his amendments remains that only he offers hope to the West of getting any kind of a European army, authoritative quarters said.

If Mendes-France succeeds in putting across his ideas for altering or modifying the treaty, the chances are better than even that the French parliament will ratify

the long-delayed project.

Rearm West Germany

If he fails, the European Defense Community is expected to become a dead issue. Then the United States would be expected to make the "agonizing reappraisal" of its foreign policy in Europe which
Secretary of State John Foster
Dulles mentioned last December.

With an integrated European army made impossible by France's refusal to ratify the program, rearmament of West Germany in the American and British zones would be the next step.

Mendes-France was ready to yield a point or two in negotiations at Brussels. It was known however that he would not yield on his plan to confine German soldiers in the projected army to their own soil.

Davenport praised the local uni-drive for industry. The locals have been very cooperative and have volunteered financial support. It is especially gratifying, Davenport

said, because the drive for indus-

all groups.

He was accompanied to the meet-

the Jaycees, and they were introduced to the club by John Schork,
president of the Kiwanis club.

Theta Rho Club Enjoys Initiation and Slumber Party
Eighteen members of the local Theta Rho club enjoyed a combination slumber and initiation party Friday night at the I. O. O. F. hall. Four girls were informally initiated.

Cokes, sandwiches, potato chips and cookies were eaten throughout the night. Little sleeping was done, but all had a most enjoyable time. At 5 o'clock Saturday morning the girls went to the town park to eat doughnuts and milk.

Present were Miss Mildred Sover the leader, Carolyn Wilson, Carolyn Herron, Judy Morse, Carol Sander, son, Bunny Upchurch, Frances Hamp, Diana Cox, Martha Gibbs, Carolyn Price, Janice Stiff, Dorothy Winkelman, Peggy O'Neil, Peggy Strader, Janice Phelps, Mary Schwartz, Norma Butler and Catherine Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rann left today for Pontiac, Mich., where they will attend the wedding of their son, Kenneth Lee, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Holloway are in Evansville where he is a patient in room 224 at Welborn Memorial hospital.

Social and Personal Items

Mrs. Kenneth Patterson of Galatia returned home very much improved Saturday from the Lightner hospital where she was confined to her bed for the past week with a virus infection. Those who called at her home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Thomas, Mrs. Mary Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barton, Paul Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patterson, Miss Opal Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meler, Miss Wanda Meler, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Jackson and daughters, Letha, Boretta and Lovetta, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Evans, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Vineyard, Don, Charles and Douglas Vineyard, Ab Patterson, Mrs. Edna Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Small, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lamb and daughter, Dorothy, Rickey Lloyd of Virginia, Kenneth Peyton and Mrs. Clyde Rice.

Ruth Gray Class Enjoys Picnic At Sloan Cottage On Big Lake
The Ruth Gray Sunday school class of the First Christian church, taught by Mrs. William Sloan Jr., enjoyed a family picnic Tuesday evening at Bilzo Lodge, the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Sloan, on Big Lake near Shawneetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boatright were assistant host and hostess. Following a delicious dinner featuring fried chicken, a brief business session was conducted by Mrs. Bernice McMahon, class president. A letter of appreciation from the church board was read for special services and contribution of time and money given by the class for success of various projects of the church. Mrs. McMahon announced election of officers to be held at the regular meeting in September.

Guests enjoyed the moonlit beauty of the lake and spent the evening in conversation. Due to vacation, Rev. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty, as well as several other members, could not be present.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wilson and daughter, Vicky, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Harris and daughters, Sharon and Susie, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Boyd and daughter, Carolyn, Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aldridge and children, Greta and Roger, Mrs. Bernice McMahon, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Uzzie, who are presently living in Rolla, Mo., while Cecil is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Boatright and daughter, Doris Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. Sloan.

Defense Dep't to Issue Statement On Korea Policy

WASHINGTON (UP)—An Army spokesman said today the Army has "no knowledge" of any imminent withdrawal of U. S. divisions from South Korea.

However, Defense Department officials indicated that some statement may be made later today outlining administration policy on future American troop strength in Korea.

The United States presently has five Army and one Marine divisions in South Korea, and one Army and one Marine division in Japan. Two National Guard divisions were withdrawn from South Korea this spring.

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—The Korean National Assembly met in extraordinary session tonight and Korean sources said the legislators would act on a reported secret United States plan to withdraw American troops.

The Korean sources predicted that the Assembly would surely vote against approving any U. S. withdrawal from this peninsula.

BITTER SAGE

By Frank Gruber
Copyright 1954 by Frank Gruber

THE STORY: A murder charge against Manny Harpending, a cowboy, has resulted in an acquittal verdict in a "jackrabbit" trial in the town of Sage City, Kan. Harpending is fined for disturbing the peace. Harpending is freed mainly through the efforts of Jacob Fugger, who rules the town and who wishes to keep the place "wide open" so the cowboys will spend money in his places of business. Fighting for decency is Luke Miller, editor of a weekly paper. Working for Miller is a printer named "John Bailey," who really is Wes Tancred, slayer of a notorious, but popular outlaw, Sam Older. Because of Older's slaying, Tancred has adopted an assumed name and only Laura Vesser, who works for Fugger, knows his real identity.

XII
Fugger signaled to Hong Kong Smith. The big Texas man hesitated, then reached into his pocket and brought out a fistful of money. "Here's your money, Judge, but I don't mind telling you that I don't like it."

Fugger stepped up beside Smith. "We can't turn him altogether free, Hong Kong. Not after what Miller printed in his paper today. 'I bring my herds to this town and I spend a lot of money here. I expect a few small favors in return. If I don't get them, I can take my business to Dodge.'"

"Where Wyatt Earp'll make your boys toe the line," snapped Fugger.

"There're other places."

"Let's talk about it," suggested Fugger. "Dinner's almost ready. Let's go to my house and have dinner and talk things over."

Hong Kong Smith smiled. "That's more like it." He turned, waved to his men. "All right, boys, you can go now. Have lots of fun and I'll see you all later on."

Harpending swaggered over. "Who's the Yankee who hit me when I wasn't looking? I got a score to settle with him." He whirled, grabbed Gorey's shirtfront in his fist. "It wasn't you, was it?"

Gorey said, "His name is John Bailey. You'll find him at Luke Miller's newspaper shop."

Harpending and his followers streamed out of the courtroom. Gorey turned to find Lily Leeds standing just inside the door, her eyes on him.

"After this," Lily said to the deputy marshal, "stay out of the Texas Saloon."

"I may have to come in now and then," said Gorey, thinly. "I'm the new marshal of Sage City."

Lily turned and found Fugger coming toward her. "Is that true, Mayor Fugger?"

"Somebody's got to be marshal," Fugger replied, testily. "Kinnaid quit, so I appointed Gorey to take his place."

Lily Leeds came in from the street. She was about to go into her office when she saw Tancred. "Come in," she said. "Bring your beer with you."

Tancred carried the glass into her office. It was a tiny room, furnished simply with a rolltop desk, two chairs, a couch and an iron safe. There was a closet at the rear where Lily kept several changes of clothes.

"I just came from the courthouse," Lily said. "Judge Olsen tried Manny Harpending."

"And?"

"Self-defense. A clear-cut case, with a half dozen witnesses who saw the dealer draw first. . . the witnesses being Mr. Hong Kong Smith and various other men who work for Mr. Smith. But don't worry, justice triumphed. Mr. Harpending was tried on another charge, disturbing the peace, and he was found guilty."

"He was fined $25 and Mr. Smith paid the fine. Now . . . about you. The train doesn't leave until morning."

"I'm not going anywhere."

"You missed what I was trying to tell you, Harpending's free. He's a Texas man and all Texas men are proud. You humiliated him and he's got to wipe that out."

"He can't taunt me into a gunfight."

"Are you sure of that?"

"Yes."

"I hope not, John." Then she blinked. "Hey, wait a minute, this is Lily Leeds." She looked at Tancred, her eyes wide. "Well, whaddya know, I was worrying about you."

"Don't, Lily."

A faint smile flitted over her lips. "I haven't worried about anyone but myself in a long while. I'm 24 years old. When I'm 28, Lily Leeds will disappear. And somewhere, maybe in Chicago, New York or even Paris, a widow will appear. A young widow of quality. She will have inherited a considerable fortune from her deceased husband and she will marry even greater wealth."

Tancred nodded thoughtfully. "You'll make it, Lily."

"I know I will." She paused again. "And you, John?"

He shrugged.

Lily shook her head. "You're a marked man. Violence breeds around you. Oh, I know, you think you can avoid it. Like now. You humiliated one of the worst men ever to come out of Texas and you think you can avoid fighting him . . . to the finish. And what was it at Turkey Crossing? What was the provocation there?"

"They killed a man who didn't have a chance."

"But wasn't there a girl there? The daughter of the station agent?"

Delegates Seek Common Stand on Assembly Theme

EVANSTON, Ill. 12—Delegates to the second Assembly of the World Council of churches, representing 161 different faiths, today sought a common stand on the meeting's major theme—"Christ, the Hope of the World."

The great debate coincided with another discussion along the same lines—how to bring unity to the world's Christian churches.

Deliberations on the main theme began Tuesday night as 600 delegates split into 15 separate groups. They were to spend three days studying the report of an advisory commission on the subject.

Although the talks were private, delegates indicated that the meetings had already brought basic differences of viewpoint into the open.

Some delegates confessed the talks became so intense they were almost moved to tears.

A basic difference, it appeared, was whether Christ's hope is to be found in this world or the next.

Some European churchmen, including Prof. Edmund Schlink of the Evangelical church in Germany, have already said man's hope should be sought in the hereafter.

American theologians appeared to hold to the view that man should find his hope in this world, also.

Dr. Martin Niemoller, the German Evangelical pastor who was one of the first to defy Hitler, indicated the advisory commission's report should take account of the controversy.

A churchman from Africa pleaded for a statement of hope that will serve Negroes as well as white persons.

Metropolis Man Is Sentenced on Extortion Charges

CHICAGO 12—Russell Clendenon, Metropolis, Ill., today was sentenced to one year and a day in prison on each of two counts for an attempt to extort $3,000 from William Reuben, an executive of the Morrison Hotel here.

Clendenon pleaded guilty before U. S. District Judge John P. Barnes. Clendenon was arrested last July when police met him at a place he designated as delivery point for the money.

Barnes passed sentence after the defendant's lawyer, Frank Gagen, told the court Clendenon had an incurable ailment and has three years and nine months to serve for a New York crime.

Hard of Hearing Now Hear Clock Tick

A new device has been developed to give hope for the hard of hearing. Through the adoption of a new transistor tube, science now brings restored hearing to the deafened.

No more cumbersome batteries or battery cords needed. This new device weighs only a few ounces yet so powerful the hard of hearing may now hear whispers.

It is suggested if interested for yourself or a friend, write Tone-master Hearing Aid Company, Dept. A, 813 West Indiana Street, Evansville, Indiana, for full free information.

Report Cholera Spreading Through Chinese Flood Areas

HONG KONG — Epidemic cholera today was reported to be spreading through areas of China stricken by the worst Yangtze River flood in history.

The Nationalist Tatsoi news agency, official organ of the Nationalist Ministry of Interior, said at least 1,000 cases of the disease have been reported in Nanking alone, with more than 100 dead.

Nanking, down river from the flood devastated Wuchang, Hankow, Hangyang area, is crowded with flood refugees.

The Communist radio admitted today that the flood situation is becoming worse rather than better.

HTHS Term to Begin September 1

A supplementary Registration will be held in room 111 at 9 a. m. on Monday, Aug. 23, for those who did not register last spring or during the summer. Those transferring from any school outside the Harrisburg Township high school district should bring their credentials with them if possible.

Commencing on the first day of school buses will operate over the same routes as last year except for minor changes in the Dallas and Raleigh runs due to the transportation of elementary school students to the Liberty and Dorris Heights schools.

The Raleigh bus will go to the Pleasant Valley school and return through Dorris Heights to route 34 and the school. The Dallas bus will go west on route 13 to Walker's store. On the return trip, after passing through the Bankston area, the bus will turn south at the west Harrisburg township line and go to Liberty school. It will, therefore, be necessary for those living east of the township line to board the bus on the out-bound trip or meet it on the return trip along the west Liberty road. All buses will make the morning runs at approximately the same time as last year but will leave the school for the afternoon runs shortly after 3:45 p. m. instead of 3:30 as they did last year.

Upon recommendation of the State Department of Education a slight change has been made in course offerings in the commerce department. General business has been dropped and a personalized typing-record keeping combination is being offered as an introductory course in the department. It is designed as an exploratory course to help students determine their aptitude for the more specialized training offered in the junior and senior years and also to provide enough business training to satisfy the personal needs of those who do not plan to major in commerce.

A third year of Latin is again being offered for the first time in several years. A course in modern family living and homemaking problems is being offered for senior boys and girls who have had no previous instruction of this kind. Two years each of wood shop, mechanical drawing, sheet metal and auto mechanics instruction are being offered following a one-year general shop course. Instead of offering one semester of advanced algebra and alternating a semester of solid geometry and trigonometry the mathematics department is offering a full year of advanced algebra for juniors and a combination of solid geometry and trigonometry in the senior year.

Textbooks on Rental Basis
A new course in physical science is being offered for those who wish to meet their science requirement in the junior or senior year but desire a nonmathematical and less technical course than chemistry or physics.

Practically all textbooks are now on a rental basis and may be obtained from the teachers at the first meeting of classes for approximately 1-3 the cost of a one-year book and 1-4 the cost of a one-semester book. The average rent on one-year books will be about 85 cents each and on one-semester books about 60 cents each. Textbooks may also be purchased if preferred, either from students who have had the course previously or at cost from the school book room. Laboratory manuals and workbooks which are consumable cannot be rented but may be purchased at cost from teachers of classes in which they are used.

The cafeteria will be in operation on and after the first day of school serving the noon meal at the same price as last year. Students who desire to earn their noon meal by assisting in the cafeteria should make application to Mrs. Grounds, the head cook.

The exterior of the building has been repainted and the interior has been given a thorough cleaning and reconditioning for the beginning of the new school year.

Faculty changes and a list of teachers will be published Thursday.

Properly ventilated closets often get damp and musty during humid weather. If the closet is not too large, a small electric light bulb burning constantly will give enough heat to stop the mildew. Be sure that the bulb is not placed where it will touch, or nearly touch, clothing.

Textile Painting Hobby Enthusies Entire Families of Two Women Near Ledford

By ALTA PORTER

When Mrs. Mary Harper, Saline county home adviser, held a local leader's school in textile painting two or three years ago, she opened a new chapter in life for Mrs. M. H. Behrick and Mrs. Floyd Hancock, who as a result have started "Mar-Nell," a small art shop on Rt. 45 near Ledford. The shop name combines the first names of the owners.

As a result of their absorption in art as a business and as a recreational hobby, their husbands and their children have also become textile painting and designer hobbyists. Floyd Hancock, who is employed by the Saxton Coal Co., at Stonefort, has designed several motifs for stenciling on textiles, and some of his designs have been accepted by pattern makers of stencils for commercial purposes.

Mrs. Henry Hancock, a daughter-in-law, who was reared by Virginia born parents in Alaska, has also developed skill as a textile painter.

At the little shop operated by Mrs. Behrick and Mrs. Hancock customers come from as far away as Culver City, Ky., Clarkston, Tenn., Roseville, Mich., and Chicago.

Handicraft which they produce has been bought and sent as gifts to Europe, Africa and Asia, wherever American men in military service are stationed. Since they are so limited in what they may wear in military service, and since the hand painted shorts which are decorated with pictures of bathing beauties, are the talk of the barracks room, wives, mothers and sisters are often requested to "send another pair" after the first gift from the Ledford art shop is received.

Each of the three women had blue ribbon winners in the premium exhibits at county fairs in Massac, Johnson, Saline and Williamson counties.

By a simplified method they find painting on nubby materials, such as terry cloth, woven rugs, etc., as easy as on smooth woven material. It is all in the "know how" and they have it.

A reversible rug, with morning glories on one side and roses on the other is one of their prize pieces. Baby quilts, cowboy quilts, table linens, bed linens and wearing apparel are included in their examples of artistic painting on textiles.

Eddie and Henry Hancock, the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hancock, are blue ribbon winners also. Both are hot rod drivers, there is keen competition between them.

They are among the well known daredevils who whiz around the oval at the Saline county fairgrounds on Saturday nights.

Due to a mine injury Mr. Behrick has been an invalid for some time, but is an enthusiastic member of the cheering line.

Eisenhower Signs Bill To Expand Loans for Soil, Water Conservation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 — President Eisenhower has signed a bill to expand the program of federal loans for soil and water conservation facilities.

The measure, which amends the 1937 water facilities act, extends the benefits of the act, now enjoyed only by the nation's arid areas, to the entire United States. It replaces a $100,000 limitation on assistance to any one project with a $25,000 limit for assistance to a single farmer and $250,000 to any corporation or agency.

The new act will also augment the old program of direct loans with a program under which the secretary of agriculture will be authorized to insure loans to cover conservation work.

Bedding and towels from a sick-room should be washed in very hot soapsuds and rinses and kept separate from the general family laundry.

Indians Show Ability to Win One-Run Games; 4-3 Victory Over Detroit No. 32

By United Press
The cocky Cleveland Indians can point today to an amazing record at winning the toughest ball games—those tense one-run affairs—as proof they don't buckle under the mounting pressure of the pennant drive.

Tuesday night's dramatic 4-3 conquest of the Detroit Tigers on two runs in the last half of the ninth inning, with Bobby Avila's single driving home the winning tally, marked the 32nd time this season that an Indians' game has been decided by a single run.

The Indians have won 23 of those pressure-packed games against only nine losses for a brilliant .719 winning percentage.

By contrast, the second-place New York Yankees have won 21 one-run games and lost 11 for a .656 mark, while the third-place Chicago White Sox have won only 17 while losing 21 for a .447 mark. White Sox Win Two

A pinch-hit, grand-slam homer by Bill Skowron featured the Yankees' 15-hit attack as they scored their eighth straight win and 10th

THE SCOREBOARD

Braves are Club of the Future

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEW YORK (NEA)—It has been said and written that Anheuser-Busch would build a Cardinals empire that would make people forget those that won pennants in clusters in the past.

If you ask a lot of baseball men, they'll tell you that Milwaukee already has such a team on the field.

The Braves may not eat up sufficient lost ground to win this time, but they definitely are the club of the future.

No fewer than 12 key athletes are in their 20's, half of them in the early 20's. They're really going to be something to see when they grow up, especially the 22-year-old home run thumper, Eddie Mathews, and the 20-year-old clean-up man, Henry Aaron. Del Crandall has taken his place as the finest all-around catcher in the National league at 24.

The old pappy guys in the Sudsville group are Warren Spahn and Andy Pafko, the one throwing aspirin tablets and the other still stirring up trouble at 33. Jim Wilson, 32, is the only other member of the Tribe above 30.

ants' never - to be - forgotten run down the stretch in 1951.

Milwaukee possesses a corking double play combination in Johnny Logan, 27, and Danny O'Connell, 26, backed up by Jack Dittmer, 25, who would play second base regularly for several other big league outfits.

First baseman Joe Adcock, who wrote new lines in the record book when he straightened out and widened his stance, is 26.

The other pitchers run from Joey Jay, a huge, 19-year-old bonus baby, to Ernie Johnson, the strong middle man who is 30. In between are towering Gene Conley and Chet Nichols, 23; Bob Buhl, 26; Lew Burdette, 27; and Dave Jolly, 29.

The Braves have everything now—pitching, power, a stout defense and speed and figure to get better. They are players with whom a manager can play ball. Headed by Bruton, who has stolen 24 times, they get around the bases. There isn't a heavy-footed member of the party. Even Crandall, the catcher, has good speed.

And the young Braves aren't going to tire in the last sixteenth.

Arch Ward Comments On 'Catfish' Wilmoth In Tribune Column

Arch Ward's sports column, "In the Wake of the News," which appears daily in the Chicago Tribune, today carries a picture of and remarks about Fred "Catfish" Wilmoth, football lineman at the University of Illinois. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilmoth of Harrisburg.

Here is what Ward has to say: "Our Illinois scout reports that the Illini this fall will have their biggest lineman since the days of Large Lester Bingaman. He will be Fred 'Catfish' Wilmoth, a sophomore from Harrisburg, Ill. When Wilmoth enrolled as a freshman, he weighed 286, but scaled down to 270 in spring practice. Coach Ray Eliot, who fits from Champaign to Europe with amazing nonchalance, has ordered Catfish to weigh in at 255 when practice opens Sept. 1.

"Ray evidently doesn't realize that Fred still is a growing boy."

Looking AT Sports

By Ed Kirkpatrick
One of southern Illinois' all-time "greats" of the hardwood courts, Sammy Miranda, is coming back to his native state to tutor the sport he excelled in. Miranda has signed to coach at Galatia high, where no little amount of basketball is played each year. He will also direct the baseball and cross country activities at G. H. S. as well as teach health and boys' physical education.

As a high school athlete in his hometown of Collinsville, Ill., Miranda was an outstanding competitor, especially in the hoop sport. He played three years of varsity ball on some of the best teams in Collinsville high ever produced. In his junior year he was named to the All-State second team, and in his senior year, he was listed on the All-State first team. He was also named prep player of the year in the St. Louis area in 1948, by the St. Louis Star-Times.

Miranda also quarterbacked the football team at Collinsville one year, specialized in the 100 and 220-yard dashes on the track team, participated in cross country and played second base on the high school baseball team.

Despite his small stature in this day of towering roundball giants, Miranda's skill with the sphere commanded the attention of many large universities. He finally decided on Indiana university, entering there in the fall of 1948. He played varsity ball with the "Hurricane Hoosiers" for three years and was named to the All-Big Ten second team in 1951.

Probably his greatest recognition came on being named to the Little All-American cage teams in 1951 and 1952. The Little All-American cagers are so called because none is over six foot in height. He also toured the country with the collegiate All-Stars of '52, playing against the famed Harlem Globe Trotters. During his sophomore year in college he was called on to make a movie on dribbling, a basketball fundamental in which he is a specialist, for college basketball's National Rules Committee.

Miranda was recently discharged from the armed services. He served with the Quartermaster corps, Fort Lee, Va. He and his wife, who is a native of South Whitney, Ind., will move to Galatia soon.

ANSWERS TO THE SPORTING NEWS BASEBALL QUIZ

1. In 1940 Fred Hutchinson pitched one inning for the Detroit Tigers and his catcher was Birdie Tebbets. Eddie Joost played second base for the Cincinnati Reds that year.

2. The Philadelphia Phillies finished fourth in the National League in 1906 with a .464 percentage. The Tigers (on Sunday morning, August 8) were traveling at a .449 pace.

3. Ted Kluszewski hit nine home runs in winning efforts.

4. Gene Woodling led the Ohio State League in 1940 with .398; Michigan State, 1941 with .394; Eastern, 1943 with .344 and Pacific Coast, 1948 with .385.

5. Stan Musial never led a minor league in batting. Kell led the Little State with a .396 mark in 1943. Robinson led the International with .349 in 1946, and Ted Williams was the American Association batting leader in 1939 with .366.

James Bros. Nine, Shells Win Kiwanis Games

James Bros. trounced the NYC, 19-1, and Shell throttled Excel, 20-3, in Kiwanis league tiffs played yesterday. In two other scheduled contests, Palace and Texaco won forfeits from the Elks and the Deuces.

Bozett, James Bros. pitcher, allowed only three hits while his teammate Cline led the winners at bat with five hits in as many trips. James Bros. scored their 19 rallies on 15 hits off Davis and Bolerjack. Gardner hit a homer for the victors, and Davis, Anglin and Weatherly collected NYC's safeties.

Rep. Shafer, Republican, of Michigan Dies

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House suspended its adjournment drive for a time today to pay respect to Rep. Paul W. Shafer, a Michigan Republican who died Tuesday at Walter Reed Hospital of a liver ailment.

The death of the tall, heavy-set congressman continued the "jinx" that seems to hang over his particular House seat. Of Shafer's five immediate predecessors, four also died in office.

Shafer was 61. His home was in Battle Creek, Mich.

Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, said Shafer had undergone surgery three or four days ago and suffered a setback Tuesday.

Shafer, a member of the House Armed Services committee, began his congressional service in 1937. He served in each successive Congress until his death.

His wife died only a short time ago, on July 5.

A former newspaper reporter and editor, Shafer was elected a municipal judge in Battle Creek in 1928 and served in that post until his election to Congress in 1936.

Reject Lar Daly Petition for Ticket on Ballot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The secretary of state's office has ruled Lar Daly, Chicago stool salesman and perennial candidate, cannot put his "America First" ticket on the November ballot.

Daly filed petitions Monday to get the "America First" party slate on the ballot. But Secretary of State Carpenter said the deadline for filing was 5 p. m. Monday and Daly's petitions did not beat the deadline.

Daly, who founded the "America First" party, also failed to get a slate on the 1952 general election ballot. His petitions named as candidates in the coming election himself for U. S. senator, Eric E. Bergquist of Oaklawn for state treasurer, and Jay Seals of Chicago for state superintendent of public instruction.

Daly ran as a candidate for the U. S. Senate on the Republican ticket in April and was last among nine active aspirants.

Lee Rites at Norris City Thursday

The funeral of Mrs. John Lee, who died Monday at 11:30 p. m. at her home in Norris City, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Turner funeral home. Rev. C. E. Hedges will officiate and burial will be in the Rite cemetery.

Candles which are refrigerated before being placed on the table during hot weather take longer to succumb to hot-weather sag.
